The elegant Bonillas residence in Nogales, Sonora, is now occupied by American Consul Simplic, through the courtesy of Governor Maytorena, commander-in-chief of General Villa's forces in Sonora.

Passing of William B. Dunne.

The death of William B. Dunne at 1:00 o'clock Sunday morning, last, at Lochiel, was a sad shock to his immediate family and his numerous friends. "Bill" as he was lovingly known, had been an employee of the U. S. Customs house of Nogales, for over six years, where his pleasant face and his words of cheer will be sadly missed.

Dying at the early age of 34 years, he yet had rounded out a useful career spent in giving happiness to others. He was a member of a large family which was left fatherless when the oldest was but twelve years of age and the youngest not yet born. As soon as he could work, Bill assumed the burdens of the family and contributed largely to the rearing and education of his brothers and sisters.

For many he held responsible positions with the firms of Armour and Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co. in Chicago. He came to Arizona in 1908 and in 1910 brought to Nogales from Ireland his mother and his brother, John, who was ill in health. His most heroic efforts to save his brother failed and John died in Nogales in June 1910. Bill then provided a comfortable home for his mother whose weak constitution broke down upon the death of her son. She lingered for a long time and died at the Sisters' Hospital only last March.

With the death of his mother Bill's duties seemed to have been lightened and all his obligations discharged and it seemed fitting that he should take his leave for a better world.

His death was sudden, but, because for some time he had been in poor health, not unexpected.

It is hard to lose so good a friend and companion, but we know he is in the enjoyment of all the bliss which life after death holds for the children of men.

The funeral services were held Tuesday forenoon, Aug. 24th, from the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in this city, interment being in the Nogales cemetery.

A large number of friends and acquaintances were in attendance to pay their last respects to the departed, who will be greatly missed.

Total District Tax $ .15
Total District Tax . . . . .15
Total State and County . $1.915
Total State, County and District . . . $2.065

Last year the total rate in the Nogales district was $2.235 which is eight cents less than the new rate of $2.315, says The Oasis.

Last year the levy for the road fund was $7,000 but approximately $12,000 was spent on roads which ran the road fund about $5000 short and in order to get the funds necessary for road work during the ensuing year and to clear up the indebtedness of the road fund it was necessary to raise the levy to $15,000.

Last year there was raised by direct tax but $7,000 for the General School Fund but this year in order to meet the growing demands of the different districts $18,000 had to be apportioned to this fund. Even with these increases in the Road Fund and the School Fund had the state tax rate remained the same as last year and not been raised 9.5 cents as it has been this year the rate in the Nogales district would be $2.22 and would show a one and a half cent reduction instead of an eight cent raise.

In School District No. 3, Calabasas, the district tax was four cents in 1914 which is a cent and a half less than this year's rate: five and a half cents. This was caused by a reduction in the valuation of the district as the valuation last year was shown to be out of proportion to the property embraced by the district.

The district tax in School District No. 6, Patagonia, shows an advance of two cents over the tax of 1915, which was thirteen cents and now is raised to fifteen cents. This increase was caused by a material reduction in the valuation of the property of that district as the Tax Commission reduced the valuation of the at present non-producing mines of that district approximately $12,000.00. The other School Districts of the county, which are not bonded, take the State and County rate of $1.912.
